

MasterTax Announces Development of Canadian Payroll Tax Reporting Module

Scottsdale, AZ – June 15, 2005 – MasterTax, the leading provider of payroll tax software in the United States, announced the beta release of project Canada a system for remittance and reporting of Canadian Federal and provincial payroll taxes.

“MasterTax recognizes the tremendous globalization that our customers and prospects have gone through over the years,” said Richard Warneka, President of MasterTax. “As a result of this globalization, we are proud to fulfill our customers’ needs by adding Canada to our tax reporting software. “

“With the development of Canadian tax reporting, we can easily position ourselves to develop tax reporting for other countries around the world as well,” stated Bill Harris, Founder and Director of Development at MasterTax. “Once the framework is completed from a programming perspective, adding any new jurisdictions for any country can be easily accomplished.”

The new Canada Payroll Tax Reporting module was released to a select number of beta test customers in June, 2005 and will be available to existing customers in January 2006 at no additional cost.
